DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 3. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fong et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,493,328).

Regarding claims 1-13, Fong discloses a system and a method for allowing a mobile of a wireless communication, referred to as a mobile node (MN) or simply a mobile station (Fig. 1/items 116, 118, 130, 126, 132, 134, 136, and col. 3/line 65 to col. 4/line 20), simultaneously access to multiple data networks coupled to the wireless communication network, for example, a wireless network infrastructure 102 coupled to a PSTN network system and/or to an Internet 114 as a data network system and to other data network systems such as to packet data networks 528 through a PDSN 526 regarding as a data serving node (Fig. 5, and col. 8/line 54 to col. 9/line 9), wherein network interfaces are provided within network controlling elements, such as within Base Station controllers, of the wireless communication network, for instance, a base station controller BSC 516 acts as a primary controller in controlling the routing or connecting of mobile nodes or mobile stations among packet data networks 528, voice networks 530, and a radio access network 302 (Fig. 4/item BSC 424 & Fig. 5, and col. 8/line 54 to col. 9/line 9); and the network interfaces allows various communication channels established by the mobile to be routed to network controlling elements that are coupled to a plurality of data networks (as illustrated in Fig. 5, and Fig. 11 for a BSC with a plurality of different network interfaces I/F(s) as shown to communicate to other networks, and col. 12/line 66 to col. 13/line 42). Furthermore, Fong discloses that Fong's system further includes a mobile node or mobile station can maintain plural communication paths using the Radio Link Protocol (RLP), and this capability provides data connectivity from a mobile node to multiple service areas (see Figs. 3A & 3B for Radio Link Protocol addressed, the PDSN protocol and how these components interacts or interfaces to each other, and further details on col. 6/line 54 to col. 7/line 31). Thus, a mobile station or a mobile node is able to communicate simultaneously with different data networks; and the network interfaces further allows handoffs or handovers to be executed seamlessly with no interruptions between mobile nodes and system equipment, i.e., a host system, as the main objection of Fong's system and method for providing and supporting non-interruption transmission as the mobile nodes moves among different networks with different standards and protocols (col. 1/lines 20-67 & col. 3/line 65 to col. 4/line 56). Therefore, every limitation of the present application is met by the disclosure of Fong's system and method as discussed.

Conclusion

- 4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Fong et al (US Pub 2001/0036820 A1) & Wu et al (US Pub 2001/0036830 A1) related to Fong '328's system. Dynarski et al (US Patent 6,272,129 B1) and Rautiola et al (US Patent 5,959,331) disclose integrated communication systems related to call routing and protocols.
- Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a). A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
